THYME WITH PRESIDENT DANA

February is my favorite month of the year! Weather usually teases us with a promise of Spring that will soon be here! I love Daphne, and it graces us with it's wonderful aroma, that is mixed with the damp rains!

This month we will discuss the continuation of the History of Landscape Design in Western Civilization. As we become familiar with the history of Landscape Design, observe all garden's, and try to identify the influences we have covered. It is a fun game to play!

Greece: In Greece, the idea of container gardens emerged because city houses were small, irrigation was expensive and a luxury, and the grounds crowded. An ideal garden had an orchard, a vineyard, and a hedge garden for floral display with a central fountain, and often contained sculptures.

Rome: Romans are known for their urban design and spatial organization. The "Forum Romanum" was a large open public space in the center of Rome and was the hub of the Roman Empire. The construction of the Appian Way in 312 A.D. was a system to tie distant provinces closer to Rome. City gardens were enclosed within the house in an open court surrounded by columns (called peristyle). Topiaries were first used and horticultural experts debuted. Statuary was also prominent in Roman gardens with a mythical theme.

Italy: Italian gardens introduced formal gardens using mathematical formulas of numbers and groupings. Hillside villas, with the use of gravity, was introduced to furnish water to fountains, water cascades, and pools. Town squares were introduced.

France: Paris became the model of civic design for the entire world in the nineteenth century. Radial avenues, parks, wide boulevards, and a grand canal, made it so beautiful.

Netherlands: Garden sizes were limited and land was reclaimed from the sea, making trees difficult to grow. "Tulipmania" was prevalent. Topiaries were prevalent and fine turf was used for areas for lawn bowling.

England: Tudor knot gardens, a series of entwined planting of clipped boxwood hedges, created an interwoven pattern set between pathways with stones or flowers to add color. The formal garden became obsolete and were replaced with irregular, asymmetrical designs resembling Oriental garden designs. The English Landscape Gardening School was born in 1713. The naturalistic design was more sustainable and less expensive to maintain. World Wars signaled the decline of garden-making on a grand scale as the labor force went off to war.

Birthday Month and Day 06/02

Marlene came to the Secret Garden Tour last year and loved it so much that she has chosen to get involved with CLTTGC. She spends 4 months in California each year, and she will be a great addition to our club during her annual trips to California.

Nancy Benkelman has new contact information:

Her phone number also changed, but I do not print it in Trellis Talk.

The development of Landscape Design from ancient cultures to the start of the 20th Century was primarily for the enjoyment of the wealthy and nobility of the times. If I could see one garden in history my choice would be the Hanging Gardens of Babylon built by Nebuchadnezzar in 605 B.C. for his wife who was from Persia. She missed her homeland and the trees and flowers she loved!

Dear Members of CLTTGC. I feel at this time that I have to drop out of this wonderful club that has given me much happiness. After my last broken hip, I have to be so careful not to fall. Thank you to the members who sent me cards and gifts and also came to visit me. You will always be in my mind and prayers.

With much love to all of you, Jo Shaul

CLTTGC POSTER CONTEST by Linda Waterstraat Each year the U.S. Forest Service & the National Garden Clubs, Inc. work together to sponsor the Smokey Bear/Woodsy Owl poster contest. Since 2000, CLTTGC has sponsored the contest locally. First through fifth graders are invited to demonstrate their understanding of fire prevention or basic environmental conservation principles through original drawings of Smokey Bear or Woodsy Owl. This year CLTTGC received 51 posters from three participating schools— Burns Valley Elementary, Pomo Elementary and Lakeport Elementary. From these 51 posters, eight were chosen to move on to California Garden Clubs, Inc. All students who participated will receive a certificate along with materials provided by the Mendocino National Forest office in Upper Lake. We wish to thank the teachers and students who put forth the effort to participate. Good luck to the eight winning students whose posters move on to the state level. The Grand Prize National Poster winner wins a free trip to Washington D.C. along with a $100 U.S. Bond.
